Welcome to WWYN. I need help right now finding a frequency, and I will not be around today at 1800z. If anyone can look around for a nice, clear frequency...

2. Saturday/Sunday Afternoon 15 meter net idea...

Yahoo group: WWYN
Date: 2005-01-08 20:47:18 UTC
From: kd5owo
Topic: 2 Message: 2

As andrew pointed out there is no reason for two 20 meter youth nets.. if you want to do it we can not stop you. Still there is a 40 meter youth net saturday evenings on 7275 (I have not hear them in awhile.. but I will see if they are around this evening) there is the 20 meter net on friday afternoons (and your support is very much wanted). An 80 meter net during the week is not a bad idea. Just I don't have 80 meters.. Still 15 meters in the afternoon can be very nice and clear. 1800z is lunch time for many, and on the west coast it is kind of earlier. I would say 2000z, where people are done with lunch and are tuning around the bands. If you got the word out it could be a success. Say 21.329MHZ or somthing. Just depends..

Why do I suggest this? Now Devan, you apparently think that we are being mean to you or somthing. Its nothing like that. We are happy that you help with our net. I would rather see us work together to build up the youth community.

Sure. I don't really like Sundays, though. Plus, it is cheap night after 2200z at the local ski resort thing. Saturday would work. I would prefer before 1800 or up to 1900, I sit around during the morning, and I do something productive in the afternoon on Sat.

I won't be around for next week's net. Saturdays for me are very busy between 11AM and 5PM Eastern time. So this could represent a problem for checking in. I'll do my best to try to make it.

Well, for 15 at this time in the solar cycle.... But, I would maybe like to run a net on 80. A lot of people are on 80. And 40. I could do a net on 20 on a weeknight maybe, sometime in the middle, like tuesday or something.

I asked a question on QRZ about 21.329 being clear, and most of those people said to go to 20. I know you people don't want another youth net on 20. 40 is usually too crowded, too. I don't know about 80. I get too much interference down there.

To me, it really doesn't matter. 40 is filled with broadcasters at night, so that can be a issue. If WWYN was on a weeknight, lets say Tuesday or Wednesday then it would be fine and maybe on a different frequency than the NAYN. We'll see what you can come up with since this is your net.

My vote is for 40 or 80...the broadcasters are annoying, but if it's the WWYN, it should have more coverage, and at this time, most of the higher bands are dead--especially at night. I don't think we should put it on a weeknight, because I'm almost always doing homework. Sometimes I hardly have enough time to checkin to our local youth net on Wednesdays.

It was a local "Newcomer's Net" on a 2m repeater. It was used, and needed a little work (Resoldering a couple things). But, it works great.

Tell them if they have an HF net that needs check-ins. Offer one of those antennas and they will hear me ;)

Yahoo group: WWYN
Date: 2005-01-18 00:14:53 UTC
From: K3ASK - Andrew Kelly
Topic: 29 Message: 29

Hi All,

AARC Jr, A ham radio club just for kids is hosting it's special event station this weekend, We would love to make contact with you. Please find the freq's and information below, or visit http://ki3ds.org for more information.

On 22 January 2005 the Anne Arundel Radio Club, Jr (AARC Jr) will celebrate it's 4th birthday. It's been an interesting and fun-filled four years.

To celebrate our birthday we're going to operate Special Event Station K1D on Saturday, 22 January 2005 starting at 1400Z until 0200Z on Sunday, 23 January 2005.

In January 2001, AARC Jr was created as an amateur radio club just for kids with a goal of introducing amateur radio to kids and to help them earn their first amateur radio license and to help those with a license to upgrade.

Since it's inception, the club has introduced radio to hundreds of kids, and has helped more than a dozen kids get their first license and others to upgrade. Even a few parents got their license as well.

We'll operate Phone on the following frequencies +/- QRM:

28.335 MHz 21.365 MHz
14.265 MHz 7.237 MHz

A certificate and QSL card will be available with an appropriate SASE. The QSL Manager will be: AA3RR

Hey Guys,
I saw it mentioned on here, but yeah, we took a holiday break.
Though, it's been longer then the holiday, so we're starting to sort some things out.
15 for the WWYN, is a great idea. I don't have an antenna for 20, and 15 can be great, especially for dx. Good luck, and if you need any help, let me know.
73,
Tim

The problem with 15 is that at this point is the solar cycle... I opt for 20, 40, or 80.

41. Need someone to pick up WWYN

Sorry for the inconvienience (hope I spelled that right), but I will be in Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, touring a brewery and picking up maple syrup supplies on Sat, and need someone to pick up the WWYN. The following week after that someone can pick it up if they feel like it; I will be in Duluth, MN sking. No one needs to, but I would like it if someone could. I can pick it up the Sat. after I go sking, but I may be at a hamfest the week after. I will not make it to the NAYN next Fri, I go to Duluth mid-thursday, and get back Sunday. And, through March I will probably not make many nets; it will be the height of the maple syrup season.

Hi,
I am going sking for the weekend, and Mid today and Friday. If someone could please pick up the WWYN, that would be great. Just use the NAYN preamble, but instead use WWYN instead of NAYN. I will have my laptop with, so I may be able to answer questions.

Hi,
I would be glad to pick it up for you. I don't know the NAYN preamble, but I have had experience running the .275 Youth Group.
Let me know if you'd like me to do it.

Ok, I just downloaded the NAYN preamble. Do you want the NAYN

Just use it as a guideline. It should work.

Ok, there was someone on 21.306 from 1900z-1906z so I was on 21.303. When he got off I got on 21.305 and called for checkins till 1920z. WA4PAM checked in. Frank in Florida. Total lenght of net was a little over 20 minutes.

Cool! It seems like this will actually be a successfull net. I ran it once before, but started it late. I just called CQ for 5 or 10 mins. But, I will definately get that on the website when I get home later today.

I have a suggestion for you - You may want to move the net down to around 21.405 or so. 21.305 is right around where DX hangs out. Down on 405 I hardly hear any activity. Also, depending on how 15M is this weekend, there is a DX contest, so if 15 really opens up, I doubt that you will be able to conduct your net on 21.305.

I'd post that you have made this net on eham, qrz, and different forums and give the yahoo ground and website.

You need something that makes the net interesting. The NAYN has the same problem. Try thinking of some "On the air activities" that would make the checkins come regularly. Maybe announce a weekly brain teaser, or math puzzle ,that would be answered the following week. Don't answer the puzzle except on the air. That way curiosity would kick in and checkins would find an exuse to find time for the net. The same idea applies to the NAYN as well.

This is only one idea, you might come up with something else very interesting that would work better.

Again, I would be very active if I had a radio. Sometime soon I will be on the air allot.

Gud idea to move it up a bit. Maybe even higher then .405.
Last week there was a dx station on .305, and it would have been a problem getting on there.
The dx contest will make it crazy on the band. Publicize the group, also. And make it more of a ragchew group I'd say, also.
The numbers sounded like a good idea. What keeps me coming back to a net is having a good group of folks to ragchew with. Either that or a goal, like a WAS net. I guess I like a laid back net, more then a strict one.
You could make it so that you had to check-in a certain amount of times to get a number, and that would give the goal. By then, the stations would be comfortable talking to everyone and there would be the ragchew added in then.
Anyway, 73 es 99,
Tim

Hello,
I hope this isn't breaking any rules. This is the message board for the .275 Youth Group. It's been around for a long time, but hasn't gotten much use. I figured I'd post the link here, so that we wouldn't need to post any more topics here that are about the group. http://s7.invisionfree.com/275_Youth_Group/index.php?

I guess I won't be able to check into the net, 15 meters must be to much of a skip from MI to MN. I listened for 20 minutes, and only heard a very weak signal every once in a while.

I like the look. I too changed the colors on NAYN, and with the color changes the new Yahoo Groups look is not as bad.

Wow! It was at 2:00 CST here. That seemed too late. The time interfered with the sugar season too much, but that is over. I usually sit and operate all morning, and then towards noon I get really hungry and do one of two things-eat breakfast
if I am ready to move onto something else for the afternoon, I complain that I am hungry ;)

But, this time works much better for me too. It is at noon here. If you want it back earlier, just tell me. I can move it. I should not be doing too much tomorrow, just maybe setting up a network and mowing a little (and endless task with a pushmower and 2 or so acres of grass. That is what the tractor is for, but I love mowing. I don't even have to be told to mow, and unfortunately, I don't get paid for it), and working on my homebrew computer. I got a heck of a free deal. A PIII 500 MHz, with a 10.2 gig HDD, with Windows 2000 Professional for free, and all I had to do was ride the bus with it from school and walk 1/4 mile home. I can't beleive they did not realize the PS was shot. The second I haul it up to the shack, I plug it in, and the PS does not start up, so I look a little closer and notice it is dead. So, I throw in another free one from school. Just had to add ram. Now it is one cool shack computer with a TV/FM tuner (got it in a $30 computer), a DVD ROM drive, a 52x CD-r drive, a Iomega zip drive, Win2kpro, and a blue LED fan.

WOw sound like you got a deal KC0KBH! Isnt it great when you can take things that one person thinks is total peice of junk and turn it into a fine working thing? gotta love it. BTW, I wish I didnt throw out an old 386 I had... Would love to take the power supply out and make a 13.8V PS.... with a 350 Watt computer power supply you can mod it into a regulated 20A 13.8V power supply for free if you already have one. Just add some resistors here and there and it is grat! ITs called a "St. Louise Switcher" From the QST article. Cant wait to do it!.

I did it. Worked fairly well, the only problem was I did not need another PS! I am a huge fan of fans from them, though. I must have 20 I got free by now.

Hmmm... Yes, this summer I do plan on putting up some nice antennas.
I should be getting a free Rohn commercial 55' freestanding tower.
Only problem is, sometimes the winds get high around here, especially on a hill. I have to find a durable beam. And I want to put up some type of longwire.

KC0KBH,
Do you have spare working computer power supplies? It sounds like you do lol. Just something I noticed.

I do, but one has sentimental value (from my 1st computer), and the others belong in computers in pieces. Go to a hamfest and pick one up for free. Or, go on Ebay and get one of those cool 500 watt ones that have the LED fan. I love those LED fans. I just put one on the back of my rig.

KC0KBH,
NIce, just wondering. I was gonna ask to buy one off of you if you had a bunch of em but no problem. a 350 watt one goes about 35 bucks around here so its still a steal for a 20 amp PS! Talk to ya on the air!

Well, you do need to watch out. They are very very cheaply built in China (land of engrish), and have little or no noise limiting things in them. They can be very noisy on HF. I may have to replace the one in my free computer because I think it is noisy on HF. But, wait and it will come to you. Just like lawnmowers or chainsaws. ;) (I got 2 free lawnmowers and a free STIHL chainsaw that just needed $20 of parts and some TLC)

Ok. I hope someone does run the WWYN and if it is run that it is a good net. I am in ND right now and loving this free wireless high speed. ;)

ive been pretty busy, i havent been around to check in on fridays becuase thats when i get home from my ride with thew schools mountain bike club.... cant hear you on wwyn... hopefully i can get more active. I really think we should consider something like a nightly frequency on 75m or something as a group of friends, not a net. that would definatly draw me more.

Nope. Don't use instant messaging or chat. How about 3980 at 0200?
That is coming up here. I will be in the shack overclocking my PIII.
I will have the rig on then. Anyone, give me a call.

Forgot again! I was in town at the time, but it could have waited for the net. I am so sick of forgetting. Gotta set my pager's alarm. I am thinking of moving the time again, but it will work in summer. I also had another idea, the RGYN, or Rag Chew Youth Net. I am thinking of maybe sometime on a Friday or Saturday night (although any day would work in summer) on 80. That could be a division of the WWYN, or it could be a totally separate net. What do you think?

Good idea. I don't know of any youth nets on 80-meters. Or you could start a roundtable group.
Also, I was thinking maybe we could start the Youth Missionary Fellowship group, or something like that, to promote interest in global missions. Or we could start a daily Youth Christian Fellowship group. We could meet weekdays in the early morning on 40 meters.
What do you think?

Although, it may be a good idea, since it would further promote ham radio, and missionary type things, and I would get to talk some more. ;) I am having a heck of a time trying to type ever since I got my finger caught in the steering of a mini bike yesterday. I got a deep cut on my right middle finger, and I cut my fingernail about half way down and about half way accross. Still hurts. But, I think I will be sticking to voice instead of PSK for the next week or two until it grows back enough to type fast.

Youch, sorry to hear about that. Is that the mini bike you were asking about on QRZ? I can see how that'd goof up the ole psk hand. Anyway, the net idea I thought you guys might like to think about. I don't have an antenna for 80 meters, but if you do the net there, best of luck on it.

Are you saying you don't have a wire!?!?! And a tuner?

Anyway, yes, same minibike. Awesome thing. Not as rugged as an enduro, but I still like it, even though it is my brother's. My mom though I should let it air out, so I took the band aid off, and it does not look as bad as when it first happened. I hardly remember it now, I was so shocked. But, should be able to drive the mini bike in a couple weeks. After quite some time of searching for parts, a guy in Ireland contacted me, and it turns out he sells parts for the mini bike, and a few odd japanese motorcyles and dirt bikes from the '70s made by the same company. He has a nice website, and it appears he is trustable. Along with all the other parts that I need, he is throwing in a used carb for parts and a front brake cable. If the clutch on it works, the thing should go about 30-40 when finished. Those little "mini choppers" are no match for this thing.

Too late. I am going up to the bonfire soon. Curious, LQC and LQD, what is it like being hams and living together? Ever fight over radios? My brother, KC0SAM is a ham, but only a tech.

203. Bstguitarist has invited you to try Google Talk.

Yahoo group: WWYN
Date: 2005-08-29 18:41:35 UTC
From: Bstguitarist
Topic: 203 Message: 203

I've been using Google Talk and thought you might like to try it out.
We can use it to call each other for free over the internet. Here's an invitation to download Google Talk. Give it a try!

Bstguitarist has invited you to sign up for Google Talk so you can talk to each other for free over your computers. Signing up also gives you Gmail, a free Google email account with over 2,000 megabytes of storage.

To accept this invitation and get Google Talk and Gmail, visit:
http://mail.google.com/mail/a-d3b55a127e-6ab3bb0aeb-b85d7dc144

If you already have a Gmail account, please visit:
http://mail.google.com/mail/b-d3b55a127e-6ab3bb0aeb-b0e435f6d6c523ed

Google Talk is a downloadable Windows application that lets you send instant messages to your friends and make free phone calls over an internet connection. Google Talk offers excellent voice quality and works with any computer speaker and microphone.

Gmail is Google's free email service, offering lots of free storage, powerful spam protection, built-in search for finding your messages, and a helpful way of organizing email into "conversations." And there are no pop-up ads or untargeted banners - just text ads and related information that are relevant to the content of your messages.

Once you sign up, we'll notify Bstguitarist of your new Gmail address and add you to each others' Friends lists so you can start talking right away.

Gmail and Google Talk are still in beta. We're working hard to add new features and make improvements, so we might also ask for your comments and suggestions periodically. We appreciate your help in making our products even better!

Thanks,

The Gmail and Google Talk Teams

I forgot. Next week I'll be more ready. I came from the shed at 22:42, and went on the 'net for a while, just waiting for the time for the net to start, next I look at a clock, it is 23:15, then I went up to the shack, and couldn't find half my preamble.

Hi all, my name is Jeff, KF5KWO. I live in Helotes, TX. My little girl is very interested in getting on the air. When and where is the next net?

Thanks and 73,

Jeff

From: mike
Topic: 395 Message: 395

Hello,
My name is Mike, Call KC5GVC. I am from Jonesboro, Arkansas. I'm 31-years-old. I got my ham ticket when I was 18. I like this fine hobby of amateur radio and am glad to see some young blood in the hobby. I love 40 meter cw the best but also phone in the 20 meter band up (mobile)

73,
Mike
